The Exterminator

Paul Ellwanger

Islamism is the world's largest religion. Reason for that is its adherence to the natural law of procreation. To disregard that law is to cause mass extermination of entire nations, without firing a single shot. The exterminator has been at work since the advent of the condom.

We are now facing one of the most startling sociological developments of our time, and perhaps in all of human history – the demographic suicide of the so-called advanced nations, and the possible extension of this suicide to the rest of the world.

So we are fast approaching a population reduction akin to extermination. This global suicide is worldwide – more in evidence in Europe and certain Asian countries.

Even at this late date in 2008, European parliaments such as those in the so-called European Union (EU), are won't to discuss this demographic disaster. It is a social catastrophe of cataclysmic proportions, thoroughly documented by scientific data of institutions such as the United Nations and reputable social scientists. It becomes obvious that people-extermination is a global conspiracy, for in spite of the available knowledge about its devastating effects upon the world, the US and the UN outrageously continue to promote population decline.

The evidence of this demographic crisis is there for anyone who has eyes to see and the common sense to follow the documented statistics to their logical conclusion. Both the theological and the political communities have turned a deaf ear to this in-progress extermination.

Christians and Jews should know better – and they probably do. But in either case, they've chosen to exterminate themselves by the unmistakably relentless process of dissociating mankind from God's gift of procreation.

Time was, in recent memory of Christianity and Judaism, when marriage was a stable union and large families were the rule rather than today's exception. Indeed, the Muslims put Christians and Jews to shame in this regard. Since the advent of the condom the West has been exterminating itself, accelerated by the catalyst known as lust. Another powerful catalyst is TV, which has become a major promoter for the porn and prostitution industries.

We have only to look at the rapidly de-populating countries of the West. Europe is about one generation ahead of the US and Canada, but the exterminator die has been cast throughout the West. China is of course rushing headlong down this same path of extinction, though few in either the West or the East will admit or face up to it.

Ironically, the Catholic Church – which once taught it sinful to consciously thwart conception – has by default allowed its membership to rationalize that artificial contraception is morally permissible.

Because this is a subtle phenomenon for city-dwellers, the exterminator evidence is not easy to see because these city folk are surrounded by an apparent overpopulation. Both governments and churches withhold from the masses the facts of this demographic catastrophe that is well underway. On the contrary, the masses of the world are bombarded with the colossal lie of overpopulation. Millions of $$ are even donated by philanthropists to help speed this global extermination process. And as if that were not enough, laws have been enacted, with impunity, to legalize human extermination.

Often referred to as the culture of death, this extermination process has been inculcated into educational curricula. In global academia there is zero tolerance for the statistics and truth about these deadly demographics. The media are of course partners with the exterminator liars. So the exterminator is allowed (and funded) to be a loose cannon throughout the rapidly dying West. Now globally entrenched, the exterminator process will be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to reverse. Even an immediate reversal would probably already be too late.

If the world, as we know it, has not come to an end before persons already born will fall under the yoke of the exterminator, religions and governments will go down in history as having committed one of the greatest crimes against mankind by their silent promotion of the exterminator.

It is perhaps an irony that formerly Christian countries of Europe now have the lowest birthrates. Italy, Spain and Poland,<sup>1</sup> have birthrates so low they have already gone well beyond the point of no-return.

No nation on earth today is exempt from this demographic scourge. The exterminator is currently free to swallow up all nations.<sup>2</sup> Indeed, contraception has not only become a global rage, but has created a vast demolition of spiritual values, replaced by one of the seven deadly sins, lust, whose natural consequence has been skyrocketing criminal acts driven by this lust – divorce, rampant abortion, broken homes, rape, and all manner of other sex crimes. These links to the exterminator are inescapable and obvious for anyone to see. Aggravating a bull has its dire consequences.

Time was when even some segments of the media had the moral fortitude to speak out on this tragedy . . .

"It is impossible to reconcile the doctrine of the divine institution of marriage with any modernistic plan for the mechanical regulation of or suppression of human life. The Church must either reject the plain teachings of the Bible or reject schemes for the 'scientific' production of human souls. Carried to its logical conclusion, the committee's report, if carried into effect, would sound the death knell of marriage as a holy institution by establishing degrading practices which would encourage indiscriminate immorality. The suggestion that the use of legalized contraceptives would be 'careful and restrained' is preposterous." (The Washington Post, 22 Mar 1931)

Russia's population shrinks by well over half a million annually. Such thoroughly documented facts have finally shaken governments to the realization that they're in big trouble. The concomitant expanding Muslim numbers have helped to bring about that realization. Economic fact: Current social programs will collapse without a population-driven tax base.

Nations of Europe have been importing Muslims to fill the vacancies in their industries, which in turn are the foundations of their social programs. Indeed, the exterminator's weapons of contraception and lust have been absolutely lethal. Which is one reason why the Muslims are resisting the exterminator in their culture.<sup>3</sup>

We know that the global economy is based upon consumerism, so the sprawling global welfare systems – Social Security, pension programs, Medicare, etc – will vanish by virtue of a disappearing tax base. There is really no other “math” to do here.

<sup>3</sup> Some Muslim nations are now seriously threatened by the exterminator onslaught – which is of course an import from the West. That threat is surely enough to generate hate of the West by the Islamic world. (Fewer, p. 50)
