Some theology of Benedict XVI

Religious belief, but most certainly not Catholic

Paul Ellwanger

Benedict XVI promotes a satanic lie, as he opinions that Christ's Resurrection is a stage in the process of evolution. From his homily of April 15, 2006 we have this incredible assertion . . .

“But the point is that Christ's Resurrection is something more, something different. If we may borrow the language of the theory of evolution, it is the greatest 'mutation,' absolutely the most crucial leap into a totally new dimension that there has ever been in the long history of life and development: a leap into a completely new order which does concern us, and concerns the whole of history.”
(L'Osservatore Romano, 19 April 06, pp.5,8) (Emphasis added)

According to Benedict XVI, Christ's Resurrection is a stage in the process of evolution, making it clear that . . .

- (1) he accepts the lie of evolution as valid.
- (2) he reduces the glorious Resurrection to a random process which he opinions to be the “greatest mutation” since the beginning.

Pope Pius X, in Pascendi Dominic Gregis (#26), 8 Sept 1907, on evolution and the Modernists . . .

“To the laws of evolution everything is subject – dogma, Church, worship, the books we revere as sacred, even faith itself, and the penalty of disobedience is death. The enunciation of this principle will not astonish anybody who bears in mind what the Modernists have had to say about each of these subjects.” (Emphases added)

Indeed, the very core of Modernism is Evolutionism.

We should not be astonished that we have loose cannons like Guy Consolmagno [S.J.] going about with their scandalous heresies, such as that accepting a literal-historical sense of Genesis is a “pagan superstition”. After all, they know full well they have the full endorsement of their spiritual boss, Benedict XVI.

This scandalous and unbridled abandon of the Faith cries out for chastisement. But things are so far gone that almost no one seems to care.
